

NEGOTIATING
FOR RIGHTSGrand Trunk Desires to Use New Haven and B. & M. Railroads According to Mr. Byrnes

Boston, Nov. 11.—The Grand Trunk railway of Canada is negotiating with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad for the right not only to reach Boston and Providence over the lines of the latter road, but to carry its business into all the stations of the entire New Haven system, including the Boston and Maine road, according to a statement given out by Vice President Timothy E. Byrnes of the New Haven road tonight.

The statement is issued to explain the reasons for discontinuing work on the Southern New England railroad, the Grand Trunk subsidiary, as announced yesterday. Vice President Byrnes states that already an agreement has been reached between the two roads for the joint use of the Central Vermont tracks between Windsor and White River Junction, Vt. The withdrawal of the petition of the Boston and Maine for permission to construct a line from Claremont to Lebanon, N. H., paralleling the Central Vermont line, was announced Saturday.

While declaring that the exact reason for ordering a suspension of work on the Southern New England railroad is not known to President Mellen, the statement admits that joint negotiations are under way and have been for some time looking to a joint use of the New Haven lines by the New Haven and Grand Trunk roads.

The statement of Vice President Byrnes is as follows:

"Vice President Byrnes says he has talked over the telephone this evening with Mr. Mellen at his residence in Stockbridge and has been assured by Mr. Mellen that there has been no agreement of any description arrived at with the Grand Trunk railway except as to the joint use of Central Vermont tracks between Windsor and White River Junction. That Mr. Mellen has been at various times in communication with Mr. Chamberlain and thinks it probable an agreement as to traffic will also be made with regard to the Southern New England extension, and if the Grand Trunk has discontinued this work, as stated in the newspapers, it was because the Grand Trunk believed advisable from its own standpoint and not from any understanding between itself and the New Haven road.

"That the facts are, the New Haven road has not paid and will not pay one dollar to the Grand Trunk to stop the construction of the Southern New England road. All negotiations referred to as pending have been with a view of putting the Grand Trunk into all of the territory reached by the New Haven and Boston and Maine lines—the conferences particularly being with a view to working out the divisions of joint rates and the arrangements for interchange of through traffic. The effect of such an arrangement, if finally made, will be to put the Grand Trunk business not only into Boston and Providence, but into the stations of the entire New Haven system."

PROUD OF WHAT HE HAS DONERoosevelt Glories in His Work of Destruction and Says that Third
Termers Have Come to Stay

New York, Nov. 12.—Theodore Roosevelt made a formal statement last night bearing on the election and the future of the Third Term party. In line with previous expressions of his own and of his colleagues, he reiterates that the Third Term party "has come to stay" and "so far from being over, the battle has just begun."

He regards the "party's" showing in polling over 4,000,000 votes in the face of numerous obstacles naturally in the path of a new movement, as "literally unparalleled in the history of free government." The statement follows:

"I congratulate the progressives of the country—that is, I congratulate those good men and women who, with sincerity of purpose for the common good, have had the vision to look into the coming years and see what the future demands from us who work in this present."

"What the progressive party has done since the theft of the republican organization by the republican bosses at Chicago last June is literally unparalleled in the history of free government, worked under representative institutions. Three months have gone by since some hundreds of earnest men and women gathered to found the new progressive party. Without much money, without any organization, against the wealth of the country, against the bitter hostility of 90 per cent. of the press of the country, against the furious opposition of every upholder of special privileges, whether in politics or in business, and with the channels of information to the public largely choked—the progressive has polled between 4,000,000 and 4,500,000 votes; has hopelessly beaten one of the old parties, both in the electoral college and in the popular vote; has taken second place in the nation, and either first or second place in some thirty-seven of the forty-eight states."

No task in any way approaching this has ever before been performed by any party in our country. Such a feat, performed by volunteers hastily brought together and without any previous cooperation with each other, against the trained veterans of the political arena—these trained veterans including the entire mercenary forces of politics—should be a source of pride, not only to those who performed the task, but to all believers in good citizenship, and in the capacity of Americans for self-government.

"During the campaign I said repeatedly that this was in no shape or way a one-man movement but a movement for great principles—a movement which has sprung, as all healthy movements in our democracy must spring, from the heart and conscience of the people themselves. This truth must be kept steadily before the minds of all of us. The progressive party has come to stay. If either of the old parties will endeavor to put into legislation any one of our planks it can count upon our hearty support in so doing; but we will not rest contented until the entire platform is enacted into law and becomes part of our political system, national and state."

"I am proud, indeed, that the great good fortune has been mine to fight shoulder to shoulder with the men and women who, in the ranks and in various positions of leadership, have waged this great battle for social and industrial justice. So far from being over, the battle has just begun. We will not rest content until every feature of the progressive program has been put into effect; and when this has been done, unquestionably there will have opened to us new avenues along which it will still be a duty to work for the moral and economic betterment of our people."

YOURS FOR AN ANSWER

Did you ever try to suggest a Caption for a newspaper column, or a subject for a newspaper story? Sometimes there is as much cleverness shown in the selection of the title for a picture as there is in grouping the figures. It is the title that awakens the human interest in the picture.

There is a wonderfully beautiful picture in our show window this week, but it lacks a proper title. Will you give us one?

To the person offering us the best answer, we will award the beautiful Globe-Wernicke Bookcase shown in our window.

You need not be a customer of the store or make a purchase to get a ballot, as this contest is open to all.

Simply call at the store and we will supply you with a ballot on which your answer is to be written.

The contest closes November 15, and all answers must be in the hands of the Answer Editor not later than that date.

The prize winner will be announced a week later.

Two Views of Buck Crouse
Who Claims Middleweight TitleBUCK CROUSE
PHOTOS BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Pittsburgh, Nov. 11.—Buck Crouse is on the warpath. The crack local glove artist claims the star middleweights are side stepping him. Buck says he has tried hard to induce Mike Gibbons, Eddie McGoorty and Billy Papke to meet him, but all efforts have failed. Now he claims the title, and anyone of the above mentioned who are anxious to dispute it will be accommodated, Crouse has been fighting about three years and has never been defeated. Many experts declare he is the best man in this division. He is the hardest hitting man of his weight in the game today. Hugh McIntosh of Australia recently offered the local had a chance to go to the antipodes to meet several middleweights but he turned the offer down. His most recent fight was with Leo Houck whom he knocked out.

Fred Welsh Outpoints Matt
Wells in 20 Rounds for Lightweight Championship.

London, Nov. 11.—Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight, tonight regained his title of lightweight champion of Great Britain, in a 20-round bout with Matt Wells, the English title-holder. The fight went the full distance, Welsh winning on points.

A great crowd gathered in the National Sporting club and witnessed a clever bout, in which the honors were fairly even throughout. Welsh was a slight favorite in the betting. There was some holding, and the referee several times cautioned the men to box cleanly.

Both tried desperately in the closing rounds to score a knockout. At the end of the 20th Welsh's right eye was nearly closed, but the referee considered that he had done the better fighting.

REPUBLICANS TO GET TOGETHER

Progressives and Standpaters to Recognize the Old Party.

Washington, Nov. 11—Immediate reorganization of the Republican party wherever possible is planned by a group of Progressive Republicans, including Senators La Follette of Wisconsin, Cummins and Keyon of Iowa, Dole of Kansas, Granger of South Dakota, Borah of Idaho, Works of California, as well as others and also including Governor Hadley of Missouri, Gov. Stubbs of Kansas and several other men prominent in public life who have within recent years been classified as Progressive Republicans. As pointed out in these dispatches last week, Senator La Follette will be the head and front of the movement. He does not desire to have it appear that he is the one conspicuous public man interested in the proposed reorganization; it seems to be his desire that Progressive Republicans throughout the country shall take up the work of putting the Republican party on a firm, progressive foundation.

Sentiment Favors Reorganization
Since the election, Progressive Republicans throughout the country have been exchanging communication with respect to the future of the Republican party. These exchanges of ideas have brought sentiment among the Progressives favors the reorganization of the Republican party rather than the offer of any encouragement to the new party which former President Roosevelt backed in the recent campaign. It is noteworthy that a large number of influential men who support Roosevelt in the campaign that is just ended are not willing to go any further with the movement. Senator Cummins of Iowa is in this class and so is Governor Stubbs of Kansas.

The preliminary outlook is for a general severance of the Roosevelt party provided the reorganization of the Republican party as a genuine progressive party the reorganization are at this time in a nebulous stage the probability is that within the next thirty or sixty days there will be held a conference to which representative Republicans from all sections of the country will be invited.

President Ready to Help.
It is very well understood that those progressive Republicans who have taken the initiative in this effort to reorganize or reestablish the Republican party are anxious to have the cooperation of those representatives of the party who for some years and through the recent campaign were classified as regulars or standpaters. It may be said that some of the most influential so-called "Regulars" are heartily in sympathy with the proposed reorganization plans so far as they have been outlined.

President Taft will do what he can to assist in the proposed reorganization. Some of the politicians say it is significant that Governor Hadley of Missouri, after a trip here and a conference with the President, went immediately to Des Moines, Iowa, where he conferred with Senators Cummins and Keyon with respect to the movement.

Roosevelt Not to Be Considered.
The reorganization plans are not taking into consideration any possible ambitions former President Roosevelt may have. It is proposed to eliminate him as a factor in the reorganization. Some of his most ardent supporters in the recent campaign realize this is necessary if the Republican party is to be reestablished.

THE HERMIT IS GETTING PEEVED

Three prominent young men of Dover had a narrow escape from being massacred on Goat Island down the Piscataqua river Sunday. The three young men left here Sunday for a trip in a motor boat down the river and after having a pleasant trip they just landed on the bank of the river when James Murlough, the hermit, who has made his home in an old beachhouse on the island for the past twenty years or more came out of his shanty with a double barreled shot gun in his hands which he leveled at the trio of young men. He told them in pretty strong language to leave the island and to do so quickly or he would shoot them. The young men beat a hasty retreat to their boat and quickly put out into the river and came back to this city.

This is not the first time that Murlough has leveled a gun at people and threatened to shoot them. The manner in which he handles the gun is no joke and it is about time that something was done to prevent him threatening the lives of people who go to Goat Island. A man who grabs a gun without the least provocation and threatens to shoot people should be taken care of before someone is maimed for life or killed by him.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION

If there ever was any doubt as to the genuineness of the business revival or any question as to the widespread prosperity that has obtained throughout the United States this year it would be dispelled by the statement issued this week by the comptroller of the currency. It was a summary of reports of condition submitted by all of the national, state savings and private banks and loan and trust companies as of June 14, 1912. These 25,950 financial institutions reported an increase in deposits of considerably more than a billion dollars, while aggregate resources increased $1,324,000,000. Savings bank deposits have broken all records, averaging $14.35 more for each depositor in the United States than the year before.

There has been a great deal of talk to the effect that the big interests alone were enjoying the great prosperity but the figures shown above clearly indicate that good times are pretty well distributed. When the general complaint is a lack of labor instead of unemployment of labor, which is the case when business depression exists; when the industries and shipping interests are clamoring for freight cars in which to ship their products and when steel mills have orders on their books for shipments for the third quarter of next year and business enough on hand to keep them running nearly full time for six months to come, it must be admitted that prosperity is enjoyed by all classes. Transportation companies report that the demand for freight cars is now about 50,000 cars greater than the supply, and an increase in the shortage is likely to be shown in the next fortnightly report.

Reports of railroad earnings now coming to hand are extremely gratifying. If the ratio of increase continues throughout the current fiscal year, the full twelve months for the leading systems will show the largest business in their history. This applies to lines in all sections of the country. The great grain carrying roads of the West will soon begin to indicate in their reports the enormous business the record breaking grain crops have brought them; and the total earnings for these roads will show corresponding gains.

There have been heavy demands upon capital as a result of the industrial activity and the requirements for crop moving in this country. These have been accentuated by the sudden monetary stringency abroad following the outbreak in the Balkans. When it is considered what great needs have been met and what pressure has been brought to bear for funds for various purposes, the wonder is that rates have not been forced to a higher level.

The prediction has been freely made that business will go forward, undisturbed by the change in administration as a result of last Tuesday's elections. There are as yet no indications of unsettlement, and President Wilson gave renewed that there need be no fear of business reaction as a result of the new order of things.—Christian Science Monitor.

WHEN PORTUGAL WAS GREAT.

The announcement that Portugal is to be linked up by "wireless" with all the Portuguese colonies is a reminder of the vanished greatness of what was once the leading colonizing empire in the world. From Lisbon in the 15th and 16th centuries went out marines through the unknown and uncharted oceans to Africa, India and the New World to the west, and planted the flag of Portugal in every corner of the globe. But in Africa alone has Portugal maintained its hold of colonies of any magnitude. In India are little bits of Portuguese territory, Nova Goa, southeast of Bombay, being the capital of all Portuguese colonies east of the Cape of Good Hope; while as far east as China, the island of Macao in the Canton river, still colonized nearly 400 years ago, still owns the sovereignty of the government at Lisbon.

MAIL CLERKS AS FIRE FIGHTERS

Gay Smart and Arthur Cox of this city, both mail clerks on the Boston and Maine R. R. had a chance to distinguish themselves last week. They were sitting in the mail clerks' lounge room in the North Station when they looked across the street and saw a fire in the third floor of a building. They rushed across and up into the building and got busy at once. Gay who comes of a fire fighting stock was right at home and he and Cox made short work of the fire. In fact they had the fire out when the alarm that was sounded brought the fire department.

New Hampshire's Vote.

The political campaign just closed has been one in which considering all the circumstances, it seemed reasonable to expect a tremendously heavy vote. Partisans of whatever faction have appeared intensely in earnest, and it was commonly prophesied, before the election, that the returns would record very nearly, if not quite, the full voting strength of the country. Here in New Hampshire that prediction was frequently heard, as relating to this State. Yet what do the returns show? The democrats, with a total vote of 34,743 for President, have carried the State this year, whereas eight years ago, with a total vote exceeding that of this year by about 700, they were beaten by nearly 20,000. In the vote for governor, Samuel D. Felker has received a smaller vote than any other democratic candidate for that office in the last ten years. In the vote for congressmen, it is true, the figures show slight democratic gains over those of recent years, but so far, at least, as the second district is concerned, this is easily accounted for by the Third Termers' endorsement of the democratic candidate. The fact remains that the democrats, as such, can find very little to crow about in the election returns from New Hampshire. They may say that they suffered a loss of about 10 per cent. to the Third Term "party," but even that indicates nothing more nor less than dissatisfaction, on the part of that 10 per cent., with the democratic party. In every instance a combination of the Third Term vote with that of the republicans—who would normally have had by far the greater part of it—would have defeated the democratic candidate by a comfortable margin. The Union will give the democrats of New Hampshire credit for one thing—they are not crowing much. It would ill become them to do so, under the circumstances.—Manchester Union.

Thanksgiving.

In his Thanksgiving proclamation President Taft notes the fact that the year drawing to a close has been "notably favorable to our fortunate land." It has enjoyed peace, both within its borders and with the rest of the world. It has been free from calamities and disturbances and it is even now blessed with a prosperity of unprecedented extent. There is the best of reason for thankfulness, and in accordance with the long continued practice of the American people they will on the 28th of this month assemble and give thanks for the mercies that have been vouchsafed to them and for their preservation from ills and disasters. Even now there is a special reason for thanksgiving, for the nation has once more demonstrated its capacity for self-government by conducting without the least disturbance an election which will result in a complete overturn in the national administration. Every time this occurs the proof is strengthened that the American people can be intrusted with the management of their own affairs, whatever may be the immediate result of their voting. It is well to remember this fact on an occasion like the present, when the country is by executive proclamation enjoined to pause from its activities to give thanks for the blessings that have been vouchsafed to it.—Washington Star.

The Police Club.

The problem of police authority without police brutality is not an easy one to solve. Denver has a new police commissioner, who has taken away the policeman's club, as a step toward efficiency and humanity. The club he says is useless in defense and is usually drawn only by officers inflated with a sense of their own importance and used upon persons who are not offering personal violence to the officer. The Denver commissioner would like to take away the policeman's revolver, on the ground that the officer usually uses it on escaping prisoners, whom he is too fat to run after. More serious than either the charge of brutality or laziness is the two frequently proven one of partnership with criminals. There can be no doubt that one of the greatest menaces to good government is the fact that a large percentage of the police of our cities and towns can be kept quiet by law breakers for a share of the profits of the deal. There is no dependence to be placed on men who can be bought.—Manchester Mirror.

The Coal Supply.

It is bad enough for the country to have to put up with the greed of the coal producers without bearing the additional burden of the results of freight car shortage and consequent artificial scarcity of the product in many sections. The Interstate Commerce Commission's warning to the railroads as to this matter is timely and should be effective. The coal supply is slowly, that loading and unloading are over-deliberate, and that cars are "stolen" by one road from another, according to its needs. Eastern cars go West and are impressed into service there, remaining months, perhaps, while the coal traffic in the East suffers.

This sort of thing the commission allows that it is going to stop, and as it has the habit of using a pretty sharp prodding stick, the chances are that it will do so.—Boston Post.

Photos by American Press Association.

Never since the fall of Constantinople in the hands of the Turks in 1453 has the imperial city been so threatened as it now is by the Balkan allies. The city has a splendid history and was once considered the world's most strategic stronghold. The palace of the sultan is a very elaborate product of Turkish art.

Current Comment.

Shopping in China

The start out in the morning from the hotel on Shumeeen, the foreign concession is an experience in itself. Says Nan Peacock in Leslie's. The sedan chair has to be hired and packed with a lunch, for many of the stores are in the far quarter of the city, and Canton has no restaurants where tourists could safely get refreshments. Then the three bearers for each chair will have to be engaged and bargained with, but the guide will do this, and he will also act as interpreter in the stores, arranging a squeeze or discount for himself with the proprietor at the same time.

In Canton there are no factories and no middlemen. Everything is made on the premises, which serve as store, warehouse, factory and residence combined, thus production is astonishingly cheap. The owner of the store supervises if he does not assist in the making of everything he sells, except of course in the few places where imported goods are sold. It is this factor which makes shopping in Canton so fascinating. To see in the making of the articles one buys to be able to purchase a piece of embroidery, after one has watched the deft fingers of the quite small boy put the last calmy stitches to a bunch of cherry blossoms, or to become the possessor of a lacquered box, the gold on which is hardly dry, lends an individuality to one's purchases they would not otherwise possess.

There are no factory laws, nor is education compulsory among the Chinese, and in every store one sees the children becoming adepts in the same handicraft in which the parents are skilled, for the Chinese are a conservative race and sons follow in the footsteps of their fathers, as part of the natural order of things. In Canton each trade is confined to one quarter of the city, and practically to one street. In the course of time the street has taken the name of the industry, and thus we find such streets as Ty-Sing Kai, or Jade Stone street, and 'Sal' Lo Cho Ti, the street of Blue-stone furniture.

A Cantonese storekeeper advises to press his goods on a foreigner. In fact he gives so little encouragement to buy that it seems as though he would almost prefer not to sell anything just then. It takes time to get accustomed to this indifference, especially if one is newly from the persistent persistency of the Indian or Arab trader. However, a Chinaman will show anything he has in his store, and admiration of his wares is a sure way to his greater friendliness.

Of course to think of Canton from the remaining point of view is to think silks and embroideries. Cantonese silks are the most beautiful and durable in the world, and the marvel is that so much beauty can be evolved amid such sordid surroundings. Imagine a narrow, alley-like street, unclean and malodorous. On either side through the open doorways one peers into dim and dusty interiors almost filled with clumsy, woolen hand looms, and here the family live also, and the babies disport themselves on the ill kept floors. But the silks do not appear to suffer from the general dinginess, and though the range of dyes is comparatively few, the colors are unequalled for richness and beauty.

America's Great Gun

"Aunt Jane" is a name that conjures up the vision of a soothing personality that ministers to aches and pains and winds the way to an inexhaustible fund of recipes for old-fashioned dishes. But the Aunt Jane who has just leaped into fame is neither an expert in the administration of paregoric nor a dear delightful spinster who possesses a magic secret for the concoction of delicious apple pies. Aunt Jane is the name popularly given by the American Ordnance designers to their latest triumphs in the science of warfare, a death dealing 14 inch gun for coast defense which has passed through a severe test at Sandy Hook.

American battleships are now fitted with 12 inch guns of rifle bore. While this is the standard high caliber size, other American guns have been cast which are much larger. For instance the Bethlehem Steel Company boasts of having produced an 18 inch gun. At Sandy Hook there is a coast defense gun of 16 inches. Experience has taught that guns of this caliber are too large. Thus while the British naval authorities experimented with a 17.72 inch coast defense gun more than 20 years ago, they are now finally of the opinion that a 9 inch or ten inch gun are more serviceable. The 14 inch and 16 inch guns in use during the Civil War were smooth bores and not rifles.

The Japanese and the French fix their maximum standard at 12 inch guns; but some of the German battleships are equipped with 14 inch guns. The layman can very easily understand by what it is meant by a 14 inch rifle when he is told that it has an effective range of more than 7 miles or 12,320 yards, whereas at Waterloo the artillery range did not exceed 1200 yards. Nelson's broadside never exceeded an effective range of a thousand yards. Reports have been made that in the Japanese war firing in the field was begun at a range of 12,000 yards. Aunt Jane cost $130,000, and the cost of each shot is $750.

While the present 12 inch rifles have a capacity of about 70 shots, the new 14 inch rifle is capable of 350 shots. Each shell weighs 1600 pounds and is 65 inches long. England was proud 30 years ago of the monster 8 inch cast at the Woolwich arsenal, but Aunt Jane complete with recoiling parts weighs 160 tons. The time required for 35 shots from this terrible implement of war was 45 seconds. If this rate of charge and discharge could be kept up continually, the new 14 inch gun would be exhausted and ready for "scrapping" in a little over two hours. No matter how long an interval may elapse between shots the experiments demonstrate that the maximum of work remaining to Aunt Jane is a couple of hours.—Philadelphia Press.

Most disgusting skin eruptions, scrofula, pimples, rashes, etc., are due to impure blood. Burdock Blood Bitters as a cleansing blood tonic is well recommended. $1.00 at all stores.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All You Need is a 25 Cent Bottle of "Danderine"—
Hair Gets Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant

Immediate? Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light wavy, fluffy, abundant, and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt, and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have double the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry brittle, or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a bottle of Danderine from and drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS--"CASCARETS"

No Bilious Headache, Sour Stomach or Constipation

Purged Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and miserable Headaches, come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a still barrel. That's the first step toward untold misery, indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a ten cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY

Carr of Andover Is Democratic Candidate for the United States Senate.

Clarence E. Carr of Andover on Monday sent out a letter to members-elect of the legislature, announcing his candidacy for United States Senator.

Mr. Carr headed the democratic ticket as candidate for governor in 1908 and 1910, and is the present treasurer of the State committee and chairman of the New Hampshire National Finance committee. In his letter he says:

"To the members of the General Court of New Hampshire for 1913: The political contest is over. The democracy has won a great fight. No state in the Union has had a harder battle against greater odds or won a cleaner victory than New Hampshire.

"The incoming legislature is to elect a United States Senator. I desire to submit my name as a candidate.

"I have had this step in mind for some time, but have preferred to withhold announcement of my candidacy, in the belief that our party could better carry on the contest with our opponents free from possible rivalries which might distract attention from the great object all of us desired—a victory for democratic principles in New Hampshire.

"In saying this I offer no criticism of gentlemen earlier in the field, just as I shall offer no criticism of those who may decide to enter the lists hereafter. I yield to others the right I have myself exercised—the right of following the course I deemed best for the interests of the party.

"Let me add, I trust this legislature will elect as United States Senator the candidate who in the behalf of its members possesses that patriotism and judgment, those views of constitutional republicanism government and those qualities of mind and heart which will make him most useful to the State and Nation."

THE MARCH KING.

While it is universally conceded that John Philip Sousa has written some of the finest marches known to the world, and has been hailed as the "March King" in every part of the globe, he asserts that if his reputation depended only on marches, and if he was asked to go around the world with his band playing marches only, he would step out and retire. "I have made some reputation from the standpoint of versatility and progress," says Sousa, "and to follow the traditional line is not for me, I flatter myself that I have built up a new instrumental body that can compare with the best symphony orchestra in the world, and I would never agree to confine myself to one kind of composition or one composer, even though that composer be myself. My band was not built in a day, or in a year, and when it was finished it didn't have a set of champion soloists with a lot of poor supports. It was all soloists."

It was this band, in its most perfect form, that Sousa took entirely around the world, the great tour being the most successful on record. Criticisms innumerable, from every land, were so universally full of praise that Sousa can feel assured that the world has given him credit for accomplishing even more than he set out to do. Sousa and his band will be here at Portsmouth theatre on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 20, with three splendid soloists, Miss Virginia Root, soprano, Miss Nicoline Zedeler, violinist, and Herbert L. Clarke, cornetist. These are the same soloists who went around the world with the band.

ALL EUROPE MAY BE PLUNGED INTO WAR

This Week Will Decide Question— Austria's Demands Are Not To Be Conceded.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—Europe is living one of the most critical weeks in her history. It may end in a war in which the whole of Europe will be involved, or it may be remembered as a week in which diplomatic success in solving problems that appeared insoluble to many.

The Bulgarian Army is on the point of entering Constantinople, and this will be resented by Russia. At the same time the Turkish capital is threatened with massacre from within. On the other side of the Balkan Peninsula there is an acute conflict between the aims of Austria-Hungary and Serbia, which if not arranged might start a general European outbreak.

The most hopeful sign at the present moment is the fact that moderate influences are brought to bear by Germany, the close ally of Austria-Hungary, and by Bulgaria, the comrade in arms of Serbia. Both of these Nations are now exerting themselves to avert a conflict.

Dr. S. Daneff, Speaker of the Bulgarian Chamber of Deputies, and one of the most influential politicians in Bulgaria, after audience with his Sovereign, King Ferdinand, and with King Peter of Serbia, and with the Serbian Premier, is now in Budapest, where the aged Foreign Minister, his Minister of War and his Chief of Staff are gathered.

It is believed that Dr. Daneff is the bearer of important proposals in regard to Serbia's claims, and that these definite suggestions for which Austria has been waiting are now under consideration.

Austria-Hungary Wants a Slice. The views of Austria-Hungary concerning the future of European Turkey are pretty well known to include access to the Eastern markets, the integrity of Albania, including the Adriatic coast of that country, and compensation for Roumania, which has already claimed that when Bulgarian territory is extended her borders should likewise spread.

The Austro-Hungarian Minister at Belgrade, who has just returned to his post, informed the Serbian Government of these proposals and suggested that a reasonable settlement could be that Austria, in return for corresponding privileges in the Balkan ports and on the railroads leading to them, should give Serbia running privileges over the line that is to be

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germes of decay accumulate on off-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only cleans off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germes, cleans like a flash and leaves your pots and pans as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work."

built to the port of Durazzo and that the two countries should together use the port as a free port.

The existing jealousies are so intense, however, that it will take a lot of pressure to induce either Austria or Serbia to recede from its demands. Austria, in fact, takes so seriously the advance of a Serbian force toward the port of Durazzo that she has dispatched a steamer there to take off Austrian residents when the Serbian troops arrive.

Serbia's friend, Russia, also is preparing for eventualities. Besides keeping her time-expired men in the army, she is mobilizing her forces. At Sebastopol transports have been prepared to convey Russian troops across the Black Sea, and her armaments and commissariat departments are working night and day.

Russia has no intention of being caught napping as she was at the time when Austria annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina, when she was compelled by German menaces to accede to the annexation, to which she was opposed.

Is Rodosto Recaptured?

As to the actual fighting, very little news is coming through. The port of Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, which the Turkish fleet bombarded on Sunday, is reported from Vienna to have been recaptured by the Turks. This, however, lacks confirmation.

The situation at Adrianople continues something of a riddle. The Bulgarian claim to have absolutely surrounded the city. A short cable dispatch, however, was received today from within the Turkish lines. This had been sent off on Saturday and somehow reached Odessa in Russia. It repeated the claim made by a Turkish official dispatch of a Bulgarian reverse in the Maras zone.

Soloni, of which the Greeks are now in possession, after all turns out to be the first important place to fall before the allies.

Constantinople, Monastir, Scutari, and Adrianople may soon follow, but the two latter cities are offering a stern resistance to the besiegers.

Disclaim Holy War Proclamation.

The Turkish authorities, owing to the protest of the foreign ambassadors, now disclaim any intention of proclaiming a holy war. They give a labored explanation that the sending of a hundred Mahometan priests to preach to the troops does not really intend to inspire the Turkish army to a holy war. They say their troops with religious fervor, and to stir their enthusiasm and contempt of death, which is more commonly known as fanaticism.

A special dispatch from Constantinople says that in the opinion of European doctors the disease which has broken out among the wounded is certainly Asiatic cholera. Several battalions of Syrian troops have been repatriated, apparently on account of cholera. The dispatch adds that there are 50,000 troops in the neighborhood of Constantinople who have not yet been engaged in the fighting, and as they are better fed, they are likely to give a good account of themselves at the Tchatalja lines.

ROBERT HICHENS' LATEST TRAVELS

"From the Adriatic to the Bosphorus" a Great Trip Made for The Century.

Robert Hichens, the novelist, who, with Jules Verne, the illustrator, will contribute to The Century for 1913 a new travel series, "From the Adriatic to the Bosphorus," has barely escaped being a war correspondent against his expectations if not his will. And in fact his trip through southeastern Europe, which ended only a few days before the outbreak of hostilities, has given him much the same viewpoint for his forthcoming articles as if he had been a war correspondent in reality. When The Century commissioned Mr. Hichens to write a series of descriptive articles about the Balkan Peninsula and its people to succeed his similar articles about Egypt and the Holy Land, there was no more than the habitual uncertainty of peace or war in that troubled zone.

Writing from his summer home in Kent, England, early in September, Mr. Hichens announced his intention of visiting Dal matia first, and then going by rail to Constantinople, where he expected to be by the end of September, then proceeding overland to Greece, the last country on his itinerary of "musings." This journey took him through the heart of the now embattled region.

"Of course," wrote Mr. Hichens in September, "it will be useless for me to attempt any sort of survey of the state of Greece; I could do nothing with it." This advance conclusion, based upon his supposition that his trip would be an observation of peaceful scenes, did not reckon upon the likelihood of war; but Mr. Hichens had not proceeded far on his journey before all his plans and ideas were changed to meet unexpected conditions, and far from "doing nothing" with the state of Greece, he probably found that he can do little else.

"This set of articles will be very different," he wrote to The Century. "In the Egyptian set I had only Cairo and the Nile, and in the Holy Land only Palestine and Damascus. But now I have several countries and Constantinople. I hope you will realize that I cannot attempt even to mention everything of interest. Were I to try to do this my articles would be a mere catalogue. But I am sure you will understand why I am forced to leave out many places of interest."

The correctness of Mr. Hichens' new-point has been demonstrated in a manner quite as unexpected to himself as to others, and in Taormina, Sicily, where he is doing his writing, he is possessed of newly acquired warlike ideas that could hardly produce a mere catalogue.

EDUCATING APPRENTICES IN GERMAN FOUNDRIES.

The education of apprentices in German foundries is described by Dr. Otto Brandt in a dissertation that is attracting considerable attention in the country, according to reports received at the United States Bureau of Education.

Various methods of instruction prevail. Frequently the apprentice is assigned to a skilled workman who instructs the boy and in return gets the larger pay resulting from the efforts of both. If the boy makes such good progress that the teacher-workman's earnings increase rapidly, the boy is paid part of the proceeds. The pay is very small, however, from the American point of view. In large machine shops the foundry apprentices are formed into special classes for instruction in foundry work. If there are not enough boys for a special class, they receive general instruction in the industrial continuation school.

With some concerns all the apprentices are instructed together the first year, and specialize during the following three years. There is no uniformity with regard to subjects and time allotted them; the schools range all the way from one class with four hours a week of instruction to a complete three-class system with a preparatory department and 12 hours of teaching. Some of the schools give merely technical subjects, while others offer the customary continuation school branch.

Industrial training of this sort is practically compulsory, it must be remembered. The employer is compelled to send all employees under 18 years of age to a continuation school, for a prescribed number of hours per week. He is at liberty to maintain a school of his own, but it must conform to government standards.

A typical school program includes: German, 2 hours a week, with letter-writing, business forms, bills, receipts, etc.; materials, 2 hours, comprising a study of ore processes, blast furnaces, Bessemer, open-hearth furnace, etc., and woods, their kinds, properties, and diseases; arithmetic, 2 hours a week, particularly business arithmetic, cost of materials and freight charges, etc.; drawing, 6 hours a week. During the latter part of the course business law, civics, and industrial history are introduced. Some of the schools have sessions from 7 to 9 a. m.; others from 7 p. m., or at any convenient time; and a few hold sessions for an hour and a half or two hours on Sunday, though Sunday school work is no longer as frequent as it used to be, either in municipal industrial schools or shop schools.

American foundrymen are interested in Dr. Brandt's description of German foundry-school conditions because of the light it may throw on the similar problem in this country; and they are especially impressed with his summary of the purpose of the continuation school, as quoted from the Prussian Minister of Commerce and Industry: "The compulsory industrial continuation school should aim at the vocational education of the young people between 14 and 18 years of age, to promote that education, and to train them to become valuable citizens and respected men."

Swatting the Fly in Korea.

Flies are the staple product of all parts of Chosen and make life miserable for the Japanese residing there. Flies are also well known to be mediums for the spread of epidemics. Last year the authorities of Chosen do ordered to buy flies, and, encouraged by their success, they will repeat the experiment this year. Last year the police were asked to take the trouble of buying flies with money supplied by philanthropic contributors and 4,888 koku (one koku is equal to 5.12 bushels) of flies were bought from May 28 to December 2 for 212.97 yen. This year 5.68 koku have already been bought for 288 yen at three to four sen a go. Local taxes were appropriated for a portion of the expense required. The flies are burned on being purchased. Rats are valued at three sen a head on the mainland, but flies have never been known to exist in such immense masses before as to acquire monetary value.—Japan Weekly Mail.

Lawyers and Their Work.

The profession of the law has flourished only in free countries. While it has always been sharply criticized and lawyers have frequently been called parasites on society—or at the best necessary evils—in view of the part they have played in the struggle for constitutional freedom this popular view is not accurate. If that view were true we ought to find those nations where there are few or no lawyers the most peaceful, orderly and prosperous. Just the opposite is true in a magazine article in 1904 it was stated that China had no lawyers that in Russia the proportion of lawyers to population was one to 31,000 in Germany one to 8,700, in France one to 4,100, in England one to 1,301 and in the United States one to seven hundred.—Case and Comment.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE NEWS LETTER.

At the annual fall fruit show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society held in Boston last Friday, New Hampshire won the apple judging contest, finished second in the box and barrel competition contest, Massachusetts "Apples" and Vermont were at the show. Both New Hampshire teams are members of Prof. W. H. Wolf's class in systematic pomology. The judging team consisted of R. B. Piper, C. B. Blodgett, and W. A. Osgood. The packing team was composed of R. B. Piper, C. B. Blodgett and W. H. Wells.

A movement has been started to publish a New Hampshire College song book. It is the intention of the publishers that the book contain all the college songs which are sung by the students body in the past and present and also to contain several new melodies and medleys written this year. It is hoped that all of the alumni will assist the committee in charge of the matter by informing them of any alumni verse or music in their memorabilia which will be appropriate to and characteristic of the spirit of their alma mater. The committee is as follows: Miss Harriet Locke '13; Ralph Sanborn '13; leader of the glee club; Clarence Dresser '14; leader of the orchestra; and Miss Sarah J. Pelee '08 instructor in English.

The big event this week will be the annual initiation and banquet of the fraternities, which will be held Friday evening, Saturday morning, as usual college exercises will be suspended.

The annual New Hampshire night, celebrated last Friday evening before the Manchester game brought back a number of prominent alumni to the college. Spirit and enthusiasm for old New Hampshire ran high. The exercises were held in the college club rooms.

Money has been raised by the Athletic association to build a new board track for the use of the track team. It will be ready for use during the coming winter season.

Last year the candidates for the relay team were obliged to go to Exeter once or twice a week, in order to practice on a board track.

Prof. Willard J. Fisher, head of the Physics department has in "Science" (Nov. 1) an article of unusual interest. Secondary Education. His general est, upon the subject "The Drift in conclusion, based upon government statistics is that "the College and universities can not lead the way in the fashion of 1892 and the Committee of Ten; the problems of secondary education can be solved only in schools."

The second number of Lecture courses will appear in Thompson Hall next Monday evening Nov. 11. It will be a concert, called "Parker's Boston Imperials" and will include the famous soprano singer, Miss Hilz, who traveled with Signor Victor's Italian band last year.

Recently, Prof. W. C. O'Kane attended conferences in New York and Washington of officials from various states. The purpose of the meetings was to obtain new methods and plans to take no other.

IN THE HIMALAYAS

Preaching the Gospel to People of the Hill Country.

Rev. William Greet Tells of Work He and His Wife Accomplished Amongst Tehri and Hindi Men.

Another report of adventure, toil, and conquest comes from the Tehri Border Village mission among the Himalaya mountains, where Rev. William Greet and his wife are carrying the gospel message to the people of the hill country.

"The past season's touring," writes Mr. Greet, "tailed up more than that of any previous season, and included reaching into some new country. One of my first trips away from our family camp, after the writing of our last letter, was to see poor old Premia at Nautia. There he sat by the little water-mill, blind and very helpless, trying to care for the people's flour. In the judgment of some who have lately seen him, he seems a believer.

"We returned to our home in January for a few weeks and then went out again to stay till April. This time we pushed forward at once to Devasari, a neighborhood of many villages which last season we were prevented from reaching. We pitched our camp on the edge of a pine wood and close to a small ravine, on the other side of which lay a long line of villages. Close by our tent was the temple to which, on special occasions, the people gathered from all sides.

"My memory goes back many years to some remarkable results from the very first visits to simple villagers in the plains who accepted Christ once and stood faithful till death, but generally where people are laid hold of, it is after continued presentation of the truth. A most encouraging thing during our touring in the hills this past springtime was the extent to which the truth of the Gospel was admitted by a man who has served us for years, but had always passively resisted all we said. He sat with me at the close of a hot journey up a long gorge to a village, where we found only one man, a lad and a child at home. We conversed under the shade of an apricot tree, concerning the Way of Life and other ways, and at the close our man, who has nearly always boasted of the superiority of his own religion, said to the village man, 'We shall have to come to it! This religion will win its way everywhere and all will at some time have to yield, willingly or unwillingly.'

"As I write part of this letter here on the roadside, half a dozen fakirs or sadhus sit down with me to listen to the singing of a bhajan which tells of the One who can take away sin. They have been to the Ganges source away in the snows, 'profoundly to be rid of their sin.' Some Sirmoori charcoal men come in the other direction and they, too, sit down to listen. Neither of these groups are Tehri men, so I sing to them in Hindi. Presently some others come, Tehri men to whom I read the Lord's words about the house on a rock and that on the sand. One man wishes to buy a Gospel, but has no coppers with him, so he consents to pay for a book with his stick, which answers very well for a walking stick for me.

"After presenting many various arguments in trying to convince the people of the truths of our eternal Gospel we drop back again to the proof they can have in their own heart at this very time in their own village, if they will really give themselves up in prayer to him who was revealed to take away sin. After talking with us the people find themselves, perhaps the same day, in the midst of, say, the slaughter of goats throughout the village for the keeping up of some special festival, or a great dance before their gods right on the night. Who knows where the Message has really found access?"

SOLICITOR DENIES CHARGE

Says Mayor Badger Has Misrepresented Him and Demands a Retraction.

The following letter from City Solicitor Samuel W. Emery, Jr., to Mayor Badger was made public today:
"Hon. D. W. Badger, Portsmouth, N. H.:
"Dear Sir—I am informed that you have publicly and in private conversation, made the statement that during this present year a case in which the city of Portsmouth was defendant, was tried in court, that in that case County Solicitor Gupitil was counsel for the plaintiff, and I was counsel for the city; that in that case Mr. Gupitil and I worked together to the detriment of the city's interests, and that there was a similar case to be tried in the courts and you would see to it that some one besides myself looked after the affairs of the city of Portsmouth when it came to trial.

I have been unable to believe that you could have made such a statement because no one better than yourself knows that the charge against me is absolutely incorrect and without the slightest foundation. I have hesitated to think that a man occupying your official position, and one who has prospered and become established in life, should make a false statement so calculated to injure and defame me, when you know that I am a young man with only my good name for my chief asset, but so persistent and so public have these rumors been that I am now constrained to ask you whether you did make any such statement regarding me.

If you did do so, you doubtless referred to the case of Ellen Quinn v. City of Portsmouth, tried at the last April term of the Superior court at Exeter, for that is the only case against the city during my term as city solicitor which has been tried in the courts in which Mr. Gupitil was counsel for the plaintiff, and it is the only case where a similar one is now pending in the courts.

Now, in this case you know that the suit was brought in October, 1910, for damages alleged to have been done to Ellen Quinn and her property by a defective sewer, the suit having been commenced before I was elected city solicitor. You knew long before the trial of the case that the Board of Public Works, in September, 1910, had written Mrs. Quinn admitting liability on the city's part and promising to remedy the defect. You knew long before the trial that Mrs. Quinn had presented another claim against the city for damages alleged to have been caused by the same defective sewer during the period after her first suit was commenced, that is, from October, 1910, to October, 1911, when the city repaired the sewer.

You know that in March, 1912, both the claims on which suit had been brought and the additional claim were presented to the committee on claims of the City Council chamber, and that the committee unanimously recommended a settlement of both claims for the sum of $300.

You know that this recommendation was presented to the City Council and was adopted without objection. You know that I then told you and the Council of the fact that before I had come into office the Board of Public Works, in a letter signed by its clerk, a letter which Mrs. Quinn's counsel had, and which was afterward used by him as evidence in court, admitted the city's liability, and that I then said that in view of all the facts I considered it better to settle in accordance with the committee's recommendation, rather than to go to court and take chances of a larger verdict against the city.

You know that you thereafter vetoed the resolution authorizing the settlement and the offer of Mrs. Quinn was withdrawn by her counsel, and suit was brought against the city for the second claim.

You know that I had a talk with you before the trial of the case last April, that I made every arrangement for the best sort of defense that could be made under the circumstances, and that you then proposed to me that I go into court and without compelling Mr. Gupitil to prove the city's liability, admit that the city was responsible for Mrs. Quinn's damages, and leave for the jury only the question of how much money Mrs. Quinn should get, and you will remember that I refused to do so, telling you that I could not agree with you, and that I did not propose to give in on any point, and that I intended to make the plaintiff fight for what she got.

You know that in the court room at Exeter, after the trial, and in the presence of witnesses you told me that my work in the trial of the case, was perfectly satisfactory to you, and what you do not know, perhaps, but which I now take pleasure in informing you, is that Judge Pike, who presided at the trial, told me that no one could have done any more than I did for the city.

You know that as soon as the verdict of $1250 against the city was rendered, I immediately, without instructions from you or anyone else, filed a motion with Judge Pike to have the verdict set aside on the ground that it was excessive, and that thereafter, Judge Pike decided in view of all the evidence, the amount was not more than Mrs. Quinn ought to receive, and ordered the verdict to stand.

You know that by my recommendation the city would have had two cases settled for $300, but that by your action in vetoing the resolution passed by the City Council, the city has had to pay a judgment and costs amounting to $1320, more than $1000 in excess of what I had two cases settled for, and there is still a case pending in the courts.

And because you know all these things are so, I say that if you made the statement I have quoted above, you owe me a retraction, complete and unequivocal, and made in as public a manner as your statement.

If you made no such statements, then as a man of honor you will state so publicly.

I am a young man, with my way to make. This is my native city and I am trying to earn an honest living among the people with whom I have always lived. And my reputation means something to me, my standing among my fellow citizens is of importance to me, my character as a member of the bar is of value to me, and while I ask no favors of you, I do ask fair treatment.

Because I am young, and lack power and authority does not make me a shining mark for the arrows of slander.

I have delayed writing this letter to you until after your campaign for Councilor was over, in order that no question of politics should be here considered by anyone, for this matter is simply one of fair play and a square deal.

I am sending a copy of this letter to the press, in order that my position regarding the statements I am informed you have made, may be as public as the reports concerning those statements have been.

I await your reply, and when I have received it, I will make it public.
Very truly yours,
SAMUEL W. EMERY, JR.
Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 12, 1912.

WANTS A MATCH.

Sporting Editor, Herald—Dear Sir: If Mr. W. B. Dryden is still around Portsmouth I wish you would issue a little challenge to him from me. I have written him several letters but have not an answer. I think he is afraid to wrestle, but if not why don't he give me a chance. I weigh 160 lbs. If you can do anything for me in regard to a match it will be appreciated.

Respectfully,
